

VACATION SAFETY

A pocket guide to protect your family and assets while you're away.

Secure your mobile devices.

Ensure your phone, tablet and laptop are password protected and armed with security software. This is especially important if you monitor your smart home from a mobile app.

Be selective about valuables.

If possible, don't bring them at all. Displaying expensive items as you travel can draw unwanted attention. If necessary, store them securely in your luggage and hotel safe.

Social media can wait.

Share limited information about your location and length of travel. Over sharing can put your home and assets at risk—take this opportunity to unplug.

Focus on the details.

Make photocopies of your IDs, and keep them stored separately. Consider enrolling in the Smart Traveler Enrollment Program or investing in personal safety tech.

Carry only what you need.

Don't carry unnecessary amounts of cash, or unneeded credit and debit cards. Extra luggage is a drag. The savviest travelers pack light.
