Vector Security, Inc. announces the newest service now available to the retail Loss Prevention industry. VectorVision™ Powered by InSite is the latest alarm management tool; designed by and developed for Loss Prevention Professionals and Security Managers to address their real, everyday informational challenges.

Alarm system problems rarely even hit the radar screen, until or unless there is a high loss due to circumvention or system failure. When they occur, these incidents are due largely to improper system maintenance, management and/or improper system operation; factors that could have been remedied before it became a loss if someone were watching.

Inadequate alarm management has serious consequences. It reduces return on investment for the system purchase, broadcasts a feeling of indifference to employee staffs and public response agencies, and allows dishonest employees to use poor alarm management as a means to successfully steal.

InSite is the answer. It's the most robust, informative and easy to use building alarm management program available, and is the ONLY real time service of its type currently available to the retail LP industry.

Once logged in, InSite offers a menu of what is available to that specific user, who then selects one of four modules to view the desired information. Users can easily monitor any number of events to include: service resolution, installation progress, central station traffic, irregular openings and closings, and billing. Managers can then take immediate action if a trouble spot is located, proactively address security problems and avert unwarranted system activations.

Your building alarm system is your first line of defense. InSite can help ensure that you manage your building security by foresight, not hindsight. Gain more insight into the benefits offered by InSite.
