

INTELLIGENT SOLUTIONS FOR YOUR UNIQUE NEEDS

At Vector Security Networks, keeping your customers, employees and merchandise safe is our top priority. We understand what businesses like yours face every day. We know that criminals are adjusting to standard security measures. But we are adjusting, too. We work with our customers to stay one step ahead of individual and organized retail crime.

Vector Security Networks employs a Service Projects team to address specific loss prevention needs for our customers. The Service Projects team offers solutions ranging from adding protection points, covert cameras, motion detectors and DVR lockboxes to proactively replacing system batteries. Solutions based on our customers' needs.

CASE STUDY #1

Our nation's largest retailers are expressing similar issues attempting to combat different distraction techniques used by criminals. Here's what the stores were facing: The criminals worked in pairs. One person would show interest in their products and distract the staff with questions. The other person would rake the product into a large bag and flee. Often these single types of attacks would result in several thousands of dollars of loss.

OUR SOLUTION

We increased the number of mini DVR cameras in each store, allowing the stores victimized by this type of crime access to detailed video from multiple angles of the crime from beginning to end, with all perpetrators caught on camera. With this detailed footage, the store could not only involve the police, but they could share the video with other stores to help train all employees against these tactics.

CASE STUDY #2

A leading specialty supplier suffered the loss of thousands of dollars of electronics when a thief bypassed their glass-break detectors by removing an entire pane of glass intact. If the glass doesn't break, the alarm doesn't sound.

OUR SOLUTION

Vector Security Networks installed additional specialty motion detectors to notify our central station of any movement after hours. We also partnered with the store as they remodeled to ensure they remain protected after the work was done and into the future.

VECTOR SECURITY®

NETWORKS

BATTERY REPLACEMENT PROGRAM

When your security panel battery is low, it beeps. And it's annoying. To you, to your staff and most importantly, to your customers. What's more, your alarm system may be rendered inoperable.

Did you know that Vector Security Networks offers a proactive battery replacement program that ensures that your system stays activated and that your sales are not affected by that annoying and distracting beep . . . beep . . . beep.

Thousands of customer sites have benefited from this proactive program. Make yours the next one.

For a full list of Vector Security license information, visit www.vectorsecurity.com/licenseinfo

1-888-8-VECTOR | vectorsecurity.com/networks